WARREN COUNTY

Unofficial registration figures compiled in the period between Sept. 12 and Sept. 20 show Warren County Republicans eligible to cast their votes in the November general election continue to have a two to one margin over Democrats.

An unexpected telephone call can have many different meanings to many different people. A phone call received yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Wolford of Tidoute left them with a fearful thought that can only come from having two sons in the armed forces, one of whom is in Vietnam.

THE NATION

President Johnson called for a comprehensive government plan to improve the nation's air traffic control system. The plan is expected to envision at least $5 billion for new facilities, equipment and personnel. Noting that it will include proposals for raising the money from the aviation industry, the flying public and the communities served, the President said, "I do not believe the general taxpayer should be asked to shoulder this burden."

The senate provided a big boost for President Johnson's legislative program to improve living conditions in slum areas. After three days of debate on an omnibus appropriation bill, the senators voted $537 million for model cities and $40 million for rent supplements.

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York announced a tentative settlement of the school dispute, which has kept most teachers and many pupils out of school for eight days. Even if the teachers vote to accept the contract terms, it appears certain that normal school operation will not resume before next Monday. The president of the United Federation of Teachers, Albert Shanker, said he would expedite a membership vote on the proposed settlement. He added, "I feel reasonably certain that the membership will ratify it."

A coalition of New York Democrats who oppose President Johnson's Vietnam policy has decided to run slates of anti-Johnson delegates to the Democratic National Convention. The "Dump Johnson" leaders here said they have been in touch with leading Democrats in at least a dozen states. The announcement of a national organization to oppose the President's renomination is expected within the next three weeks.

THE WORLD

Britain's newest luxury liner, the Queen Elizabeth II, was launched with a royal ceremony at the Clyde River in Scotland. The ship's owner, the Cunard Steamship Company, selected the name and kept it secret until the launching. It did not go over very well with the Scots.

SPORTS

Warren Area High School's Head Football Coach Toby Shea discussed the Dragons' loss to Franklin at last night's meeting of the Warren Sports Boosters, promising that the Blue and White would rebound from the rout. He also said the Dragons would have to stop Titusville's passing game to win on Saturday. Page A7.

The Associated Press named Miami's Abner Haynes offensive player of the week in the NFL yesterday and honored middle guard Wayne Meylan of Nebraska as the top college lineman. San Diego State returned to the top of the Top Ten for small colleges, with Pennsylvania's Waynesburg College rated third. Page A8.

Boston rallied in the ninth inning again to nip Cleveland, 5-4 and retain a share of the American League lead with Minnesota, who downed Kansas City, 6-2. Detroit kept pace with the leaders by ripping New York, 10-1. Chicago played a late game at California. Page A6.

Carl Yastrzemski of the Red Sox is almost a shoo-in as the AL's Most Valuable Player, but Baltimore's Frank Robinson and Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota are giving him a run for batting's Triple Crown. Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente leads the senior circuit in hitting. Page A6.

NAME ANGERS SCOTS

Big Ship's Name a Surprise

(From Our Wire Services)
CLYDEBANK, SCOTLAND—Queen Elizabeth launched Britain's newest luxury liner yesterday and named her "Queen Elizabeth II."

The ship's owners, the Cunard Steamship Company, had selected the name and kept it secret. It was a longshot with book-makers across Britain.

"Winston Churchill" and "Britannia" had been considered 3-to-1 choices by bookies.

In naming the ship after herself the Queen was following a precedent set by her grandmother in launching the two previous "queens"—the Mary in 1934 and the Elizabeth in 1938.

But the choice of the name stirred resentment among the ship's Scottish builders. Many Scots don't recognize such a person as Queen Elizabeth II, since the first Queen Elizabeth did not reign over Scotland.

The Scots feel that the present monarch is "Queen Elizabeth I of Scotland," whatever the English call her. Some felt so strongly about it after the coronation in 1953 that they put bombs in mail boxes carrying the royal cipher "ER II." Now Scottish mail boxes compromise with "ER"—Elizabeth Regina, no number.

"The name must mean that the ship is the successor to the old Queen Elizabeth," said one shipyard man. "That's the best explanation we can think of." As the queen walked to the ship launching platform, the sun broke out along the banks of the Clyde River. Addressing the crowd of 30,000, she declared: "I name this ship the Queen Elizabeth the Second, May God bless her and all who sail in her."

"What's her name?" yelled one of the workmen. The Queen then cut the string holding the bottle of vintage champagne high aloft and it smashed alongside. She pushed the button to send the $84 million-ship down the slipway.

After the launching, Gordon Wilson, secretary of the Scottish National party, a home-rule group not represented in Parliament, said his Glasgow headquarters had been jammed with protest calls.

"I think the name will be resented by a great number in Scotland, and shows little regard for the thousands of Scottish craftsmen who worked to create the ship," he said.

The new ship is shorter and narrower and carries fewer passengers, but she matches the old Queen Elizabeth in speed. The Queen Elizabeth II has a passenger capacity of 2,025 while the earlier Queen carried 2,982 persons.

Husband Broke Cats' Necks, Says Divorcee

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A young wife was granted a divorce yesterday from her husband who, she said, broke the necks of her three cats and shot her pet raccoon.

In addition, Carol Chidester, 20, of the East End said her husband, Danny, smashed her aquarium with a coffee table and sold her $300 blonde wig and her sewing machine. Judge Ruggero J. Aldisert of Allegheny County Common Pleas Court granted the divorce on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment.

Johnson Urges Air Safety Improvement

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — President Johnson called yesterday for a comprehensive government plan to expand and improve the nation's air traffic control system and said he would ask the beneficiaries to pay for it.

The plan will probably envision at least $5 billion for new facilities, equipment and personnel. It will include proposals for raising this money from the aviation industry, the flying public and the communities served.

"I do not believe the general taxpayer should be asked to shoulder this burden," the President said in a letter to Alan S. Boyd, the Secretary of Transportation. Boyd will supervise preparation of the plan over the next few months. In the same letter Johnson disclosed two moves to head off complaints that his budget restraints were jeopardizing air safety operations in the immediate future.

He said he was asking Congress to amend the budget of the Federal Aviation Administration to provide an additional $7 million for new personnel in the current fiscal year, which ends next July 1.

He also directed the head of the F.A.A., Gen. William F. McKee, to do everything necessary to preserve the nation's "enviable" air safety record, even if this means tolerating more traffic delays.

The White House actions amounted to a response to pressure from the aviation agency and also from members of Congress for immediate expenditures from general revenues for the hiring of more air traffic controllers and for more control towers and electronic equipment.

Beulah Spreads Death and Havoc

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Beulah, one of the mightiest storms in history slashed multi million dollar destruction into the lower Texas coast yesterday. The storm continued to spread death and havoc into the night.

Beulah did her worst at Port Isabel and Brownsville before dawn, coming ashore with 160 mile-an-hour winds at her center. Wednesday night she continued to lay coastal areas with hurricane winds.

The death toll stood at 29 in Beulah's 12th day of life.

Tornadoes spun off the big storm in record numbers. The Texas Department of Public Safety counted 27 Wednesday—a record by 10 and Beulah showed no signs that she was near death.

Hurricane winds hit Corpus Christi, 160 miles from this horribly damaged town, before sun-down and continued in the late evening.

Tornadoes continued to develop. One spun near Corpus Christi in the late evening. Still another was triggered 250 miles to the north.

State disaster planning officials warned persons in the South Texas coastal plains to remain in shelters.

There were no reports of looting but downtown Brownsville was barricaded and the business district was patrolled by armed troops.

Damage was widespread. Entire communities were isolated.

Electric power was cut off to almost all the storm-hit region. Red Cross officials in Brownsville said it would be several days before the damage could be estimated at this tip-off Texas city.

"Port Isabel appears to be 85 per cent destroyed," one report said.

"Laguna Heights (another coastal community between Corpus Christi and Brownsville) 75 per cent homes damaged, 40 per cent appear total loss," the report said.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White estimated crop losses at $50 million.

A spokesman for citrus growers predicted a loss of $15 million for oranges and grapefruit.

The storm stripped the nearly mature oranges and grapefruit from trees and may have damaged the trees themselves.

Truckers' Strike Leads to Layoffs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Re-public Steel Corp. said yesterday it will lay off 2,500 workers as the movement of steel was slowed by force and fear in eight states by maverick truckers spreading renewed violence.

Bullets ripped into strike-breaking rigs on highways in Ohio and Pennsylvania. A picket was shot in the stomach as he marched at a turnpike interchange.

But most drivers stayed safely at home, letting steel pile up in warehouses.

For the first time since the bizarre strike started a month ago in Gary, Ind., Teamsters Union officials sat down in Chicago with its dissident members to hear their complaints.

There were no reports of progress. But the reports of rifles and pistols echoed at highway ambushes.

State Police said a man in a passing truck shot a picket in the stomach as he carried a sign at the Pennsylvania Turnpike's Breezewood interchange urging other drivers to stay off the road.

Near Ashland, Ohio, a half of bullets ricocheted off a rig on U.S. 224. Four shots from passing car pelted the front of a truck on U.S. 6 near Sandusky, Ohio. Donald F. Shannon, 41, of Eau Claire, Mich., said someone in a pickup truck shot out his tires on U.S. 30 near East Liverpool, Ohio.

Approve $ For Slum Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson scored a major victory yesterday when the Senate, rejecting House cuts, voted just about what he asked for his model cities and rent subsidy programs.

Both are key instruments in the administration's efforts to improve conditions in the city's slums.

The Senate voted 62 to 28 to approve its Appropriation Committee's decision to allot $537 million for the model cities program for the current fiscal year that began July 1. The House had cut the fund to $237 million.

The Senate's vote was 59 to 31 to give Johnson the full $40 million he asked in contract authority for rent subsidies.

FBI Fires Man for Petting; Judge Says it's Vet's Right

By FRED P. GRAHAM
(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — A federal judge suggested yesterday that young men who have become accustomed to premarital petting while in the military service may have a legal right to continue the practice for a short period after discharge.

Furthermore, this right might apply even if the young man becomes an employee of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the judge said.

These observations on the subtleties of veterans' rights were made by Judge Harold Leventhal.

The judge, sitting as the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, made the comments while considering whether the F.B.I. director, J. Edgar Hoover, had acted legally in discharging a bachelor clerk who kept a girl in his apartment overnight.

The former clerk, Thomas H. Carter, 26, has sworn that nothing but "necking and spooning" went on. But a lower court dismissed his suit for reinstatement on the ground that the circumstances were sufficiently "indiscreet" to justify his discharge.

Hoover said in dismissing the $4,930-a-year clerk, who had lasted only one month after returning to the F.B.I. from four years in the Air Force, that his action constituted "conduct unbecoming an employee of this bureau."

Judge Leventhal said that under the Uniform Military Training Act a returning serviceman must be given a chance to adjust to the changed conditions of his civilian job.

He cited several post-world War II court decisions in which baseball clubs were required to keep returning servicemen until they had had an opportunity to get back in playing condition.

Using the same reasoning, he said, the F.B.I. might have to give returning servicemen a chance to adjust to the F.B.I.'s strict standard of male-female relations.

"Many people in the military service think that premarital petting in private is not of a nature," said Leventhal, a former Coast Guard lieutenant commander. "Maybe even officers would do it," he added.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas Lumbard argued that Carter's offense had been carelessness and poor judgment in creating an impression of misconduct. His conduct came to light when an anonymous person wrote the F.B.I. about the overnight visit, saying, "It annoys me terribly."

Lumbard argued that the incident had compromised the reputations of the bureau and the girl.

"A vast number of people still feel that this kind of conduct is wrong — people in Oklahoma and Kentucky where this young man came from — even if perhaps not in the sophisticated East," Lumbard said.

The coalition includes two reform assemblymen, a city councilman, peace-movement members, literary figures and community leaders.

The "Dump Johnson" leaders in the metropolitan area say they have been in touch with highly-placed Democrats in 12 to 15 states.

Erie Gets Plant to Build New Breed of Lake Ships

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Litton Industries, Inc., signed a contract yesterday for a $20 million plant that would turn out a big new breed of Great Lakes ore ships.

Litton contracted with Erie Industrial Development Corp. to take over a 31-acre site in the heart of the city's port.

The plant would produce ships ranging in size from 150 to 1,000 feet and capable of carrying up to 50,000 tons of cargo, nearly four times as much as a present average ore ship on the lakes.

John Cogan, a vice president of the Beverly Hills, Calif., holding company, said he expects the new carrier prototype to serve for 70 years before coming obsolete.

He said loads in the holds could be expanded to 65,000 tons once sailing channels along the lakes are deepened. The ships would unload themselves at the rate of 20,000 tons an hour.

Cogan said Litton will break ground for the plant within a few weeks and finish up in 1969. The first ship would be ready a year later.

Days of Free Tire Air May be Over

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"Free air" at gas stations may become another relic of the "good old days."

Gulf Oil Corp. is test marketing nitrogen inflation for tires. The company says its dealers will charge for the inflation, but expects pure nitrogen to guarantee longer tire life and reduce failures.

The normal 20 per cent oxygen content of air causes deterioration of tire rubber and fabric, a major cause of tire failure, Gulf researchers say. Nitrogen is a less active gas.

Gulf is testing the new inflation method at service stations in the Houston, Tex., area. The company says it will charge 50 cents to inflate a new tire and $1.00 to clean and inflate tires filled with normal air.

A planned class in the philosophy basis of education has been cancelled because of marginal enrollment. It will be offered in Bradford, however, beginning Sept. 28 at the Floyd C. Fretz Junior High School.

Warren residents interested in the Bradford course can get additional information from Virginia Williams, guidance counselor at the Fretz junior high.

Information is available on the Warren classes from Angelo DIMINO, principal at the Jefferson Street School and Penn State evening Administrator for Warren. He can be reached at the school at 723-9061, or home 723-8588.

DIRKSEN STEPS ASIDE

Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen (right) announced Tuesday he is stepping out of Senator Charles H. Percy's (left) way as Illinois' favorite son presidential candidate in 1968. Dirksen said he was making the announcement to counteract a published report that he was blocking Percy's chances to become the favorite son.

UN Delegates Divided on Thant's Closed-Door Idea

By CHARLES STORER
UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Delegates to the U.N. General Assembly were divided in their views on a suggestion of Secretary-General U Thant that the Security Council hold periodic closed-door meetings to deal with major world problems. The proposal by the secretary-general was being discussed in the corridors yesterday as the assembly, which opened for a three-month session Tuesday, began organizing its work.

Thant suggested in the introduction to his annual report that the council make use, for the first time, of a provision in the U.N. Charter that the council "shall hold periodic meetings" to discuss, as Thant put it, "matters relating to international peace and security." Thant's idea was that the meetings be initiated by foreign ministers of the 15 member nations, most of whom are here for the opening of the assembly. It was understood that when Thant first raised the idea for periodic council meetings at a luncheon of Security Council members last month, he suggested that it might be a route to a settlement of the war in Vietnam.

Many delegates asked about the plan, however, continued to believe that the United Nations could take no fruitful action to settle that conflict so long as the United States continued to bomb North Vietnam and Hanoi continued to reject any U.N. involvement in a settlement. But at the same time, they saw such council meetings as a possible means of approaching an agreement on Middle East problems.

Assembly is Still Stalemated on Tax

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer held lengthy meetings yesterday with legislative leaders from both parties, but the tax stalemate still appeared to be on dead center.

Senate Minority Leader Ernest P. Kline said after his talk with Shafer that "it settled absolutely nothing."

The Beaver County Democrat further said that any Republican-Democratic agreement would have to involve a cut in the $1.46 billion general appropriations bill, even though it has been signed into law.

Kline said the law still could be amended.

House Speaker Kenneth B. Lee also had a pessimistic outlook.

"The Democrats are asking for too much," Lee, R-Sullivan, said. "There will be nothing to solve this until somebody starts putting on the heat—heat on Republicans and heat on Democrats."

"And the people who will be putting the heat on will be the kids who aren't getting their scholarships and the universities," Lee added.

Both Republican-controlled chambers met yesterday, but Gets Burn on Foot

Kenneth L. Lewis Jr., 17-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lewis of 118 Onondaga st. Warren was treated at Warren General Hospital at 6:10 p.m. Tuesday, according to hospital officials, for a burn on the left foot. Hospital officials said young Lewis sustained the burn from contact with an iron. He was treated and released.

Key Committeeman Urges Spending Cut

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—A key member of the House Ways and Means Committee has warned President Johnson that he is "living in a dream world" if he thinks Congress will enact a tax increase without a large cut in government spending first.

The member, Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., specified budget cuts of $5 billion in a message he sent to the President Tuesday, through Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler. Ullman, a liberal Democrat who has generally supported administration programs and who believes a tax increase is necessary, expounded further on his views in an interview yesterday.

He said that he had informed the President that, in addition to proposing budget reductions, he would also have to make a major address to the nation "laying it on the line to the American people, explaining that sacrifice is needed and that we cannot have both guns and butter."

Ullman said that he had not yet received any response from the President, who only Tuesday reaffirmed his intention to propose no budget reductions until Congress has completed action on this year's appropriations bills.

The idea of President Johnson's appealing directly to the public for support of his tax bill is known to have been discussed in the administration. The President, however, has reportedly rejected the idea.

"It is my judgment that budget cuts of $5 billion would satisfy a majority of the (Ways and Means) committee," Ullman said yesterday.

Ullman himself believes that the cuts should leave the newer programs of aid to the poor and the cities essentially untouched. Instead, he proposed that about $2 billion of reductions be made in defense spending that is unrelated to the war in Vietnam, about $1 billion in long-range research, and about $2 billion in other civilian programs.

How To Protest In Safety

But hold on: "Mr. (General) Walker (organizer of the protest) said, however, that of the 421 signers of a similar no-payment ad last year in Washington newspaper, not one had been prosecuted and sentenced. Of an estimated total of 1,500 additional protest nonpayers, he added, none had been prosecuted since the war in Vietnam began. The Internal Revenue Service has chosen, so far, to collect unpaid taxes by placing a lien on the incomes of those who refuse to pay, or by attaching their bank accounts, or other assets. In addition, a 6 per cent interest penalty is charged each year on the unpaid tax balance.

Thus the protesters stand to lose 6 per cent on a savings deposit, so that leaves 1 per cent. One per cent of 10 per cent of your old tax, for an average writer, means say a buck seventy-five, which isn't bad is it, for making the hero page of the New York Times?

Naturally, he explained, "credibility" is an essential of "assured destruction capability."

Here, then, are thinkers thinking 30 far ahead of our own powers to comprehend that we are perhaps too unqualified to deplore them for thinking about "deliverable megatons" as though they were grocery orders, or for thinking of the power to blow up the world between lunch and teatime as "a defensive posture."

The ultimate beauty of their thought is embedded in Secretary McNamara's explanation why they insist that we must spend ever more billions to build explosives and missiles. They have concluded, said the Secretary, that we need them: they will not be used.

Thirdly, Mr. Schweiker's congressional record over the years has been one almost diametrically opposed to that of Democratic incumbent Joseph S. Clark, particularly in the case of the war in Vietnam, which Congressman Schweiker has characterized Mr. Clark as "standing as one in which the U.S. 'should stop bombing North Vietnam, unilaterally cease fire and retreat from the country, and slide into the cities.'"

Penn State graduate Schaeffer (1950 with Phi Beta Kappa) should be ultimately wiser than the GOP nod, unquestionably would provide an out-and-out choice of ideologies for Pennsylvania's voters between those espoused by himself and those of incumbent Senator Clark who is expected (although he too has not formally announced) to be for another term.

HOUSE VOTES 227 TO 173

Confirm Rat War Decision

WASHINGTON — The House confirmed yesterday its decision to wage a $40 million war on rats.

After passing by one vote in a test Tuesday, the advocates of this project mustered 227 members to overcome 173 opponents.

The "ayes" came from 68 Republicans, mostly from urban areas, and 159 Democrats. Opposed were 63 Democrats, almost all from the South, and 110 Republicans.

Yesterday's vote not only reversed the House action discrediting a rat extermination bill two months ago, but the vote was more decisive than the first one, which was 176 to 207. The reversal cannot be explained solely by the additional 17 members who cast votes as clearly many members changed their minds.

The explanation commonly heard at the Capitol was that many citizens had written to House members not only criticizing the July 20 vote, but the ridicule and hilarity that accompanied it.

During that mid-summer debate, opponents had suggested that the new program would create "a rat bureaucracy" and "a rat patronage" and "a high commissioner of rats" presiding over "a rat corps."

House action that day was promptly denounced by President Johnson as "a cruel blow to the poor children of America." He placed the major share of blame on the Republicans.

The rationale of the reversal, in the view of some members, was that the new vote simply added $40 million to the two-year authorization of the Health, Education and Welfare department for matching health grant projects administered on state and community levels, and will not set up a new bureau in the Housing and Urban Development Department.

The H.E.W. could spend the $40 million for non-rat projects, but it would be ignoring the congressional debate at its own risk. The intent of the proposal was made plain by its sponsors, Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and Charles Mathias, R-Md.

The rat appropriation was an amendment to a $950 million health assistance bill, called "Partners in Health," which the House passed, 395 to 7, and then sent to the Senate.

Of the 68 Republicans supporting the rat-control provision, 42 had voted against the administration's proposal in July and seven others were absent for that earlier vote.

Six Democrats who had voted against rat-control in July switched over to support the proposal yesterday. In addition, 20 Democrats absent for the earlier vote supported the proposal.

Escort War Goods From Soviet Border

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnamese are traveling across Red China to receive Russian war supplies at the Soviet-Chinese border, congressional testimony revealed yesterday.

The disclosure was made by military men testifying before the Senate preparedness investigating subcommittee Aug. 10 during a closed hearing on the Vietnam air war.

The comments of Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, Pacific command in chief, and Air Force Maj. Gen. Chesley G. Peterson, assistant chief of staff of Pacific intelligence, were released yesterday.

Peterson said it is "an accepted intelligence estimate" that the North Vietnamese are taking physical possession of war-making material from the Russians at the border to escort it across China.

"They were having problems with the Chinese stealing stuff off the rails," Peterson said. "The Soviets therefore worked out an agreement that the North Vietnamese themselves would take it over and accompany it all the way."

Peterson said relations between the Chinese and Russians have been "a little bit bad, and may get worse." In efforts to destroy such supplies coming by rail through China, U.S. air attacks have been stepped up in North Vietnam's upper regions.

Two major rail lines extend in a sort of V-shaped pattern out of China into Hanoi. The rail lines have been attacked repeatedly in recent weeks.

Sharp contended it might shorten the war but in any event would make it far more difficult for the North Vietnamese to import weapons and equipment.

Israelis and Egyptians Battle Across Suez

Israeli and Egyptian troops battled across the Red Sea and the Suez Canal yesterday. The truce-breaking fight coincided with the opening in New York of a U.N. General Assembly session at which the Middle East crisis is a time issue.

A Tel Aviv spokesman said Israeli tank gunners spotted eight patrol boats moving down the 100-yard-wide canal toward Port Taufiq with armed and helmeted Egyptian soldiers and sank three, dumping about 45 men into the water.

Egypt denied this version. It said Egyptian guns opened up with counterfire after the Israelis, without provocation, lobbed shells into Port Taufiq and the nearby city of Suez.

A Cairo communique said no Egyptian military installations were hit, but two houses and a power station were damaged. The semi-official Middle East News Agency said five civilians were wounded.

"Reports claiming there were Egyptian boats in the canal at the time are absolutely untrue," a Cairo spokesman said.

Israel's armed forces swept across the Sinai Desert to the eastern bank of the canal in the Arab-Israeli war of June 5-10. There have been frequent fire-fights since along the 114-mile-long waterway.

The most serious incident, a heavy seven-hour artillery duel, erupted Sept. 4. U.N. observers reported later this was stirred up by shore battery fire on three Israeli patrol boats that the Egyptians said were attempting to force their way to the southern end of the canal.

Egyptian authorities said Israeli shelling of Suez and Port Taufiq at the time killed 44 civilians, wounded 170, wrecked 40 homes and sank a 3,000-ton Greek freighter berthed in the port's harbor.

Divorcees' Plight Worries Churchmen

PARE — The Roman Catholic Church of France is taking a compassionate and worried look at the plight of divorced women, described by one of them as virtual pariahs in the Christian community.

Some priests are arguing that the church should recognize the right of divorcees to remarry. A recent study by the secretariat of the French episcopate, aided by a group of women divorced or separated from their husbands, examined the problem with candor but without a recommendation.

This document, submitted first to the bishops and then as a letter to parish priests, has been made public.

Divorce or separation, the study points out, often comes as an overwhelming shock to a woman and brings with it almost unbearable material, financial and psychological burdens.

The study deplores the fact that in France, the alternative to divorce for a marriage that fails is legal separation—which may be converted into divorce at the end of three years by either party at the asking.

"In most cases," it says, "only divorce preserves the rights of the woman and children."

"Great moral sufferings add to these material difficulties. Nearly always, those who reject remarriage turn in upon themselves, in an evergrowing solitude. They no longer dare to express themselves; they bury themselves, all the more because in modern society, a woman not provided with a husband or a friend is despised and affronted."

"These women deserve the understanding of many priests who don't seem to suspect that they are suffering from such problems."

SAYS AMERICAN HELD THERE

Forced Stay in China Boring

HONG KONG — An amateur American yachtsman described yesterday how he was first almost "scared to death" and later almost "bored to death" during a month's enforced stay in China.

David Joseph Steele, 39, supply manager for the Esso Petroleum Company in Saigon, said he was subjected to intensive interrogation during the first week of his detention, but was treated reasonably well.

He appeared in good health and spirits at a news conference here yesterday.

Steele, from Baldwin, N.Y., sailed for Hong Kong early last month in a 32.5-foot yacht he built in Saigon. On Aug. 17 near Hainan Island he was intercepted by a fishing trawler manned by what appeared to be an armed and "bloodthirsty band of pirates."

Steele asserted that at no time was he closer than 15 to 20 miles from Hainan. China claims territorial waters extending 12 miles from its coastline.

"I was more scared than at any time in my life," he said. "I was convinced I was going to be dead. Half a dozen people pointed rifles at me, one man had a machine gun and another began to loosen a grenade from a string."

He was forced to board a Chinese trawler. At Hainan he was blindfolded and taken ashore to a secluded location that looked like a "series of rest houses."

He ate fairly well and even had beer with his meals. Nevertheless, "I think I have lost ten or twelve pounds," he added.

During a week of intensive interrogation Steele said he was asked thousands of questions on subjects "having absolutely nothing to do with what I was doing in Hainan." He was also given a copy of the famous little red book, "Quotations from Chairman Mao Tse-Tung."

Steele said he was accused of telling lies and threatened with severe punishment, but apparently this was just to test his story. He said he was handed at a "low grass-roots basis," and he wondered if Peking knew he was held.

On Sept. 9 he was told that Peking had decided to release him. He was asked to sign a declaration dictated to him. It was an admission that he had intruded illegally into China's territorial waters and had been "leniently treated."

After he signed the document, he was flown to Canton, where for a week he underwent "further investigation."

Tuesday, after his original confession was revised slightly, he was put on a train to Hong Kong.

Nixon Leads Field Of GOP's Hopefuls

By CARL C. CRAFT

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — With less than six months to go before New Hampshire's presidential preference primary—the nation's first—it's Richard M. Nixon leading the field of Republican hopefuls.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan will start his move with speeches at Dartmouth and the University of New Hampshire on Oct. 30.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California has organized backing but has passed the word that he does not want his name on the ballot in the March 12 primary. So his supporters are concentrating on a write-in campaign along the lines which gave Henry Cabot Lodge a surprise victory in 1964.

Others sure to muster write-in support if they decline to be on the ballot include Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois. Some diehards say they will write in the name of Barry Goldwater, the party's 1964 nominee, despite his crushing defeat by Lyndon B. Johnson.

New Hampshire is a state where the tradition of the town meeting is cherished as an example of true democracy and where every man's views are heard fully at the grass roots level.

Reagan has yet to appear but supporters hope he will set up a speaking engagement before the end of the year.

John MacDonald, a Nixon supporter in 1960, leads a New Hampshire draft — Reagan committee. Former State Sen. Russell Carter, organizer of another pro-Reagan group, says more than a third of the offers to work for the California governor have come from Democrats.

Subcommittee Approves Firearms Control Law

(C) N. Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — The Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee approved yesterday by one vote the Johnson administration's bill to control firearms.

Further action on the controversial measure, however, remained in doubt. Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., the subcommittee's leading critic of the bill, complained that the vote was taken in his absence, while he was rushing to the closed subcommittee meeting.

Hruska's "no" vote was counted, however, in the 5 to 4 margin by which the bill cleared the subcommittee late yesterday afternoon.

Frank C. Daniel, secretary of the 800,000-member National Rifle Association, which has led the opposition to the measure, predicted it could not win approval on the Senate floor. He called the bill "too extreme and too unpopular."

The N.R.A. is supporting a much less sweeping bill sponsored by Hruska. Daniel said prospects for its adoption were "good."

The proposed federal firearms control act of 1967, also known in the Senate as S. 1, must still get by the subcommittee's parent body, the Judiciary Committee, and also undergo a review by the Commerce Committee, which normally considers firearms legislation, before it reaches the Senate floor.

Both committees are regarded as hostile to the administration measure.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and one of the chief supporters of a strong bill, said that he would introduce the administration measure on the floor as an amendment to some other legislation, if it is blocked in either committee.

Awards Made In Contest At Tidioute

Prize winners in the monthly summer fishing contest conducted by the Tidioute Area Chamber of Commerce received their awards Sunday afternoon in Tidioute. Each winner was the recipient of a Garcia spinning rod, complete with case.

Presentation of the awards covered the months of May, June, July and August. The contest has a couple weeks to run and the September winners will be announced on Saturday, Oct. 14, although the winners will be notified by telephone prior to this date.

So far, area fishermen have not been winners but they still have a chance to hook a trophy fish for the summer contest and register it at one of the stations in Tidioute or East Hickory. The contest covers fishing in the Allegheny from the Kinzua Dam to Hunter Bridge below Titusville.

When the September winners have been determined, four of the summer contest winners will become eligible to participate in the finals of the 1967 Pennsylvania State Fishing Championship tournament at Tidioute on Sunday, Oct. 15. These fishermen will become finalists on the basis of having caught the longest fish in one of the four species: muskie, walleye, great northern, or bass.

All nine of the summer winners received their fishing rods Sunday. One, a young man on his way to Vietnam, was represented by his father. Because of the circumstances, the rules were bent a little bit to permit Pfc. Joseph L. Robinson of Coraopolis to be rewarded for catching a 19½-inch bass in August.

Prize winners, in addition to Robinson, were: William R. Hamer, 1952 Bost St., Harrisburg, walleye, 24¾ inches, July; Raymond Zoeller, 4056 Penn Ave., Pittsburgh, 19¾-inch bass, July; Ralph Fryer, 211 Whitten St., Vandergrift, 17½-inch bass, May; Ralph Santucci, Clarksville, 24¾-inch walleye, tied with William Hamer in July; L.O. Eury, 129 Cresthaven Dr., Butler, 25¾-inch walleye in August; Dean Lawrence, 384 Bost Dr. W. Mifflin, 26½-inch great northern in July; Arthur J. Elliott, 3606 Laurel Dr., Perry, Ohio, 35¾-inch muskie in July; Robert Rush, R12, Sharpsville, 29¼-inch walleye in June.

TMO Adds New Feature: Duffy Daugherty Column

Popular Duffy Daugherty, two-time Coach of the Year and mentor of unbeaten Michigan State Spartans teams that won the last two Big Ten championships, is going to help us mastermind the college football season coming up.

Starting this week he will write articles that will tell about the general developments in college football and will discuss the strengths and weaknesses of teams playing in each Saturday's big games.

Duffy, who likes to stick his fat neck and double chin out, brings formidable talents to this assignment. He knows nearly all there is to know about the game itself for he has worked under some master coaches and in the last 13 years has developed a few head coaches himself.

But aside from that he is a raconteur of no mean ability, a popular luncheon and after dinner speaker, a lovable wit and much in demand for football clinics around the nation once the season ends.

Duffy was born 52 years ago in the small mining town of Emeth, Pa. He worked hard as a boy. When he was 8 his family moved to Barnesboro where his father owned a men's clothing and furnishing store, which he lost during the 1927 coal mining strike.

Young Daugherty worked while in high school. After graduation from Barnesboro High School at age 16 in 1931 he worked two years in a shirt factory and two years in the coal mines.

"I told people I was a coal inspector," Duffy Daugherty says today. "Actually I was a bone picker, separating the coal from the slate. I was getting something like 68 cents an hour."

"I didn't get to college until I was almost 22 because things were tough in the mid 30s. I used to play sandlot football on Sundays and one day Jim Rorapough, who had played for Syracuse, saw me play and after the game he asked me how I'd like the chance to attend his college. I jumped at the chance."

At Syracuse he played guard and, in his senior year, captained the team. His coaches were Ossie Solem, Biggie Munn and Bud Wilkinson.

From Syracuse Duffy went into the Army, saw World War II duty in Australia and New Guinea while rising from a private to a major. He spent 30 months overseas, participated in three major campaigns and was awarded the Bronze Star.

One year he coached the First Cavalry Team at Fort Bliss in El Paso, Texas, and returned to his Alma Mater (Syracuse) as line coach for two years. In

Joining TMO Staff

1947 Biggie Munn, now Michigan State athletic director, took Duffy on as an assistant coach with the Spartans. After seven years, "Duffy" took over as head coach in 1954.

Today he is the winningest coach in the history of the East Lansing school of 38,000 students. Also, he is one of the most popular men on the campus. Everybody seems to know the smiling Irish-Scot, and Duffy has a flair for knowing most East Lansing people, and their children, calling them by their first name.

His Spartan teams have compiled an 82-35-4 record and, besides taking the last two Big Ten titles, have finished second in the strong Western Conference three times. Right now he is bent on becoming the first Big Ten coach in the history of the conference to lead a football team to three straight outright championships. His Big Ten record for 13 years is 51-27-2.

There are lots of stories about Duffy. One we haven't heard before is told by Bob Devaney of Nebraska.

"I'll never forget the '56 Rose Bowl game against UCLA," Devaney relates, "when I was

Veteran Linebacker Activated by Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tom Erlandson, veteran linebacker sidelined for two weeks by a shoulder separation, was activated yesterday by the Miami Dolphins.

Erlandson, in his sixth year in the American Football League, was defensive captain of the Dolphins last season.

coaching the ends and defensive backs for Duffy.

"Daugherty called every play, and he came up with the greatest calls. The last was a honey. He called on Dave Kaiser, a boy I had coached in high school, to kick a 41-yard field goal with seven seconds to play."

"Only a sophomore, Kaiser had never attempted a field goal in college. That field goal won the game, 17-14."

"When Kaiser came off the field I said to him 'It's a good thing you had in those contact lenses.'"

"Coach," he answered, "I had to turn around and ask one of the officials if the kick was good. I forgot my contacts. I left them in the locker room."

While Duffy wasn't really a star at Syracuse, he was always a great strategist who could diagnose plays and dream up new ones.

Congratulations Duffy for joining our staff for the football season. It should be an interesting one and we're looking forward to some good inside football, football that everyone will understand.

WARNS OF TITUSVILLE'S PASSER

Shea Tells Booster Club Dragons Will Bounce Back from 46-0 Loss

By LARRY G. STEELE
Sports Editor

Toby Shea, Warren Area High School's head football coach, had the unenviable task of explaining the Dragons' 46-0 loss at Franklin to the Warren Sports Boosters last night.

After citing mistakes and poor tackling as a prime reason for the defeat, Shea stated, "The sign of a good ballclub is the ability to bounce back. I promise you we will bounce back."

The Dragon mentor started out by noting that lack of experience at some positions had cost the Blue and White, but added, "I'm sure that we learned... what we've learned won't happen again."

Reflecting on the contest, Shea noted that the Dragons had "got in a hole right away," causing the coaches to change the game plan. "We could have moved the ball on the ground," he said, "but we had to gamble and it went against us."

Shea was referring to the Warren aerial game, which was not as effective as he had hoped. "I like to pass," he stated, "and we will continue to pass."

The former Warren star indicated he was not entirely happy with the officiating, but said that a few poor calls didn't make any difference in the final outcome. Summing up, Shea said, "We didn't do the things we should have done at the right time. Then he made a prediction.

Noting that sophomore quarterback Ed O'Neil had taken the brunt of the loss, Shea stated that "He (O'Neil) will beat Franklin by a greater score than they beat him by," before he has finished his career at WAHS.

Looking ahead to Saturday's home opener against Titusville, Shea pointed out that, while the Rockets do not have the speed the Dragons faced at Franklin, they do have a good passer in junior quarterback Gene McNamara.

The game plan for the Dragon defense, he said, would be "to pressure him as much as possible... if we don't give him the time, he can't pass." He added, "If he does get the ball in the air, he will hurt us. If he has a hot day, he'll do a lot of damage."

Shea said the Dragons would have an advantage since it's the first home game.

The group later adjourned to another room at the high school for films of the Franklin game and the previous contest with Corry.

In the business portion of the meeting, Booster President Murray McComas informed the large crowd present that both the club and the WAHS Varsity Club are currently selling "Booster Buttons" for 50 cents and that season tickets would be on sale at the main gate at War Memorial Field prior to Saturday's game. The tickets are $5 for the five home games and guarantee the holder a seat in the reserved section.

McComas also reported that tickets to the Pitt-Army game for the Dragon gridgers had been ordered, but had not yet been received. The plan to purchase a camera for the WAHS athletic department was still under study, he said.

The club is making arrangements to film the Oil City game here on Saturday, September 30 on both 8mm and 16mm film before deciding which system to adopt.

The Boosters will meet again next Wednesday night at 8 p.m. in the WAHS exhibition area to hear Shea comment on films of Saturday's game with Titusville.

Tigers Lose Den McLain

DETROIT (AP) — Starting pitcher Denny McLain of the pennant-contending Detroit Tigers, who dislocated two toes in his left foot in an accident at his home, will be lost to the team for at least a week, the team said yesterday.

"He was sitting down at home Tuesday and his foot went to sleep," said Manager Mayo Smith, "when he stood up, his ankle rolled out from under him."

McLain, knocked out in his last four starts, has won 17 games for Detroit but hasn't recorded a victory since Aug. 29 when he beat California 4-2.

"I was planning on going with three starters the rest of the way anyway," Smith said. The team has 10 games left in the torrid American League pennant race.

Dr. Russell Wright, team physician, said McLain apparently dislocated the two outside toes on his left foot and is undergoing treatments.

Aztecs Back on Top In Small Grid Poll

By The Associated Press
The San Diego Aztecs have picked up where they left off at the close of last season, leading The Associated Press' small-college football poll and possessing an impressive winning streak.

The Aztecs, leaders in the final 1966 poll, hold a commanding edge in the first vote of the 1967 season after defeating Tennessee State 16-8 in the opening game for both small-college powers.

The triumph increased San Diego State's winning streak to 17 games and ended Tennessee State's streak of 10 straight victories and 24 games without a loss.

In the initial 1967 balloting by a national panel of 12 sports writers and broadcasters announced yesterday, the Aztecs collected eight first-place votes and 113 points on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

North Dakota State and Waynesburg had two first-place votes each, and placed second and third in the balloting. North Dakota State, victor over Montana State 24-6 and Omaha 41-33, accumulated 75 points while Waynesburg, which trampled Slippery Rock 61-7 in its first game, had 73 points.

Tennessee State, second in last year's final poll, is fourth this time with 70 points. Arkansas State holds down the No. 5 spot followed by Weber State, Northwestern Louisiana, West Chester, Pa., State, the University of Texas at Arlington, formerly Arlington State, and Florida A&M.

Arkansas State does not open its season until this Saturday when it opposes Western Michigan. However, the next five teams started with victories last weekend. Weber State beat Northern Arizona 29-28, NW Louisiana walloped Hanover 49-0, West Chester beat Villanova 14-9, Arlington edged Los Angeles State 17-14 and Florida A&M overwhelmed Allen 43-0.

AFL'S PLAYER OF WEEK

Haynes Left Problems in Denver

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — When Abner Haynes and Cookie Gilchrist switched places in a seven-player trade in June, many football people said Denver and Miami merely were exchanging problems.
Coach George Wilson of Miami disagrees. "Everyone said Abner was a troublemaker," Wilson said, "but he's no more a troublemaker than the man in the moon."
Haynes, however, runs better than the man in the moon, and that has meant a lot of trouble for the rest of the American Football League.
Actually, it meant a lot more trouble in the first five years of the league's existence—Haynes was an all-star the first three seasons—than in the past two when his productivity dropped off sharply.

But the 29-year-old halfback apparently wants to rectify the impression anyone might have of him as a washed up veteran.
In his first game for his new club—and in his first against his old one—Haynes romped for 151 yards on 12 carries and scored two touchdowns that gave the Dolphins a 35-21 victory over Denver last Sunday. He also caught two passes for 14 yards.
The touchdowns, on runs of three and 65 yards, came in the fourth quarter, after the Broncos had tied the game 21-21.
For that performance Haynes was named the AFL's Offensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press yesterday.

Sharing halfback duties with Joe Auer, Haynes gained just about one-half as much yardage as he did all last season (304) and almost as much as he did the entire 1965 season (166).
With that kind of comeback, Haynes certainly could not mind having Auer as a co-holder of the halfback job.
"When I'm in a ball game, I try to do my best," said Haynes, the league's third-leading career ground gainer. "When you start there's a certain amount of pride you develop. But competition is good for everybody, and it should make me a better player."
"If you take it the wrong way, you're not a pro," said Haynes. Several other offensive performances stood out in last Sunday's games.
Haynes' rookie teammate, quarterback Bob Griese, completed 12 of 19 passes for 193 yards and two touchdowns in his pro debut. Also making his debut, Denver's Bo Hickey gained 42 yards in six carries and scored two touchdowns.

Daryle Lamonica completed 15 of 25 passes for 251 yards and three touchdowns and also ran for one in Oakland's 35-7 victory over Boston. Billy Cannon caught four Raider passes for 114 yards.
Zeke Moore set up half of Houston's points with punt returns of 46 and 34 yards as the Oilers upset Buffalo 20-3.

Ex-Bill Booter Nabbed by Jets

NEW YORK (AP) — Booth Lustig, soccer-style kicker, was acquired on waivers yesterday by the New York Jets of the American Football League from the Miami Dolphins.

Lustig, the league's second leading scorer in the AFL last season with 98 points, had been dropped by the Buffalo Bills early this year in favor of Mike Mercer. Miami then picked up Lustig.
A Jet spokesman said that Lustig has been placed on the active list and would be available for kicking duties against Denver Sunday.

Lions Activate Injured Cogdill

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions reactivated end Gail Cogdill, leading pass receiver in Lion's history, yesterday and said he would be available for Sunday's National Football League game with the Cleveland Browns. Cogdill, starting his eighth season as a pro, all of them with the Lions, fractured his right forearm in training camp Aug. 9.

To make room for Cogdill, No. 1 Detroit receiver with 301 passes for a total of 4,857 yards, the Lions placed Jim Robinson of Tennessee State on the disabled list.
Robinson, a second-year player, has a bad knee and a pulled hamstring.

Penn St. Picked to Bump Navy, Trojans over Texas

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It's an old bar room axiom that a good big man can always lick a good little man — a theory sometimes disproved by Bear Bryant's "pore little boys" at Alabama — but it is our yardstick in choosing Notre Dame, Southern California, Syracuse and Miami to win the weekend features in college football. There is another one which says, "The bigger they come the harder they fall." So we're bracing for any bumps that might reduce last week's opening score of 25-3 for '735.

Notre Dame 27, California 10: The starting Irish tackles weigh 270 and 260 pounds; a 270-pound tackle, Kevin Hardy, has been shifted to end and the Baby Bombers — Terry Hanratty and Jim Seymour — are back. Southern California 21, Texas 14: The going scale for a Trojan lineman is 250 pounds and Mike Hull, the fullback, is 6-foot-4, 200 pounds and runs the 100 in 10 seconds.

Syracuse 19, Baylor 6: The Orange doesn't have Floyd Little but has Larry Csonka, 6-3, 230, and a big memory — the loss a year ago.

Miami, Fla. 19, Northwestern 7: They call the Miami defense the Green Machine — the biggest cog is end Ted Hendricks, 6-7, 229.

UCLA 27, Pittsburgh 0: The Bruins have a soccer-style place-kicker named Zenon Andrusyshyn. They won't need him.

Arkansas 20, Oklahoma State 13: Ronny South the Porker quarterback, learned a lot from Fred Marshall and Jon Britten.

Washington 19, Wisconsin 17: The swing is the thing with the Huskies, whose Evil Features a five-man backfield.
Alabama 33, Florida State 7: The only speeding tickets Ken Stabler will get is for moving the first down sticks.
Penn State 18, Navy 10: Quarterback Tom Sherman has a pair of good targets in Jack Curry and Ted Kwalick.
Louisiana State 10, Rice 7;

This one is always close and an edge this time to Baton Rouge hysteria.
Michigan 20, Duke 14: Dick Vidmer and Heffer defense given the edge over Duke's howling Ed Woodall in a passing duel.

Steeler Back Among NFL's Top Rushers

NEW YORK (AP) — Three running backs gained more than 100 yards last Sunday on the National Football League's opening day but the big surprise had to be Bill (Please Don't Call Me Willie) Asbury of the Pittsburgh Steelers.
Johnny Roland, the 1966 rookie of the year, ran for 124 yards at St. Louis in a losing cause. Dan Reeves, a key man on Dallas' champs of the East a year ago, gained 114 yards. That was expected.
Asbury, supposed to be playing second fiddle to Earl Gros with the Steelers, rambled for 107 yards on 12 carries, scored two touchdowns and averaged 8.9 yards per carry. His longest run was a 73-yard jaunt on which he was caught from behind on the Bears' seven.

When Gros suffered a knee injury in training, Asbury got back his old starting job. He doesn't figure on giving it up.
"You sit around in the off season and you see pictures of Gale Sayers and Dick Bass and Leroy Kelly and you wish it were you," said Asbury after the game in Pittsburgh. "I figure you need three things to get 1,000 yards — a good offensive line, four or five good games and some big plays."
Sayers, the 1966 rushing champ, got off slowly with only two yards on seven rushes although he did run back a kickoff 103 yards for a TD.
John Unitas of Baltimore leads the quarterbacks in the first weekly NFL statistics after throwing for 401 yards, a career high, in Baltimore's opener with Atlanta. The most surprising statistic among the passers is Green Bay's Bart Starr's four interceptions.
Charley Taylor of Washington, moved from running back to wide receiver in the middle of last season, opened defense of his pass reception title by catching eight for 144 yards against Philadelphia.
Billy Lothridge of Atlanta has the best punting average, 50 yards, rookie Doug Cunningham of Mississippi topped the punt return men with a 57-yard average and Sayers of the Bears has the best kickoff return mark, 73.5 yards.
Bobby Boyd of Baltimore leads the pass defenders with two interceptions against Atlanta's Randy Johnson.
Seven men all tied for the scoring lead, each with two touchdowns, including two Philadelphia Eagles, Gary Ballman and Tom Woodeshick.

Safety Advances In New Olds

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. — A number of important safety-related product improvements have been incorporated as standard equipment on the 1968 Oldsmobiles.

Among these new features are seat belts with push button buckles at all passenger positions and a convoluted fuel tank filler neck which will bend and collapse to prevent fuel leaks due to rupture of the neck in case of rear end collision.

Other safety improvements in the 1968 Oldsmobiles include a large increase in windshield wiper coverage area and more fluid released per pulse by the windshield washer system. For the reduction of glare, wipers on most Oldsmobile models are depressed below the driver's line of vision.

Side marker lights, recessed door-release handles, low profile instrument panel knobs, wider vision outside rear view mirrors, a Z-shaped shift lever built to bend upon impact, and padded front-seat backs are additional safety-related improvements in Oldsmobile's 1968 product lineup.

Along with these safety features, all Oldsmobiles for 1968 will be equipped with a "lock-your-car" warning buzzer as an anti-theft device.

The revolutionary front wheel drive Toronado is powered by a 455-cu.-in. 4-cylinder V-8, with an ever higher performing force-air induction engine available as an option. Oldsmobile engineers have achieved a big gain in ride softness for the Toronado in 1968 while retaining all of the car's unexcelled handling characteristics.

1968 OLYMPICS - RESERVATIONS MEXICO CITY October 12 to 28

If you think you may want to see the Olympics next fall, October, 1968, you should start doing something about it now.

We at Warren Travel have been fortunate in obtaining options on 10 rooms for this event. All in good hotels. There are only about 30,000 rooms available in Mexico City and they expect 200,000 visitors per day. The rooms are being allotted now and won't be available next year. We must make 25% deposits at once to hold space for that time. The rooms are not inexpensive and will be in great demand with short supply. Consequently we urge anyone who may be thinking of going to Mexico City to see the Olympics to get in touch with us at once. There is no obligation to talk about it now and today we can be of help to you—next year we won't be very effective.

We have a letter from Mr. Jay Ream who used to be a partner in Warren Travel. He now lives outside Mexico City and has volunteered information which confirms the shortage of space and the need for prompt action on the part of anyone considering going to the '68 Olympics.

League of Women Voters Plan Public Meet

Seven leaders in planning will speak briefly on area development at the League of Women Voters public meeting Wednesday evening, September 27, 8:00 p.m., in the large courtroom at the County Courthouse.

Everyone is invited to come, learn and be concerned about Warren's future. LeRoy Schneek, program director of WNAE, will introduce the speakers. First, the chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Urban Renewal, Plummer Collins will tell how people—individual or groups—can help support Warren's Community goals.

Victor Miller, borough manager, will explain what the enforcement of the New Housing Codes just passed by Borough Council means to the home owner.

Jack Lutz of the Warren Borough Planning Commission will explain its goals and recommendations in future expansion and development.

Dave Swanson, on the Warren County Planning Commission will show the wider scope of this group and discuss present problems—sewage disposal and inequities in taxation.

Raymond A. Marti, member of the Warren County Redevelopment Authority will talk on the purpose of Redevelopment and its benefits to a community.

Walter Bergler will report on Warren's plan for medium cost housing for senior citizens.

Colonel Kerlin, of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, will discuss private initiative in making housing available, how industry could help.

A study of area development was adopted by the League of Women Voters last April for their 1967-68 program. It is hoped the open meeting next Wednesday will attract hundreds of men and women so that they will learn more about what Warren's planners for the future have undertaken.

Titusville Woman Near Victim of 'Wig Offer'

TITUSVILLE—Mrs. Kenneth Williams of State street, Pleasantville, was the near victim of an attempted hoax this week when she was notified by postcard that she had won an expensive wig which would be sent her free.

However, Mrs. Williams had read in a Pittsburgh paper an article warning women in the tri-state area district not to fall for the "free wig" offer unless they wanted to look like "candidates for the Beatles."

Better Business Bureau officials state postcards are being sent to thousands of women in western Pennsylvania by a Philadelphia concern posing as a hair styling club. The postcards state the women have won an expensive wig which will be sent them free.

When the so-called winner calls the club to tell them to send the wig she finds she is being charged anywhere from $10 to $18.50 for styling the wig, a headstand to hold it and handling fees.

BBB spokesmen said the wigs are not made of human hair as claimed but is actually animal or synthetic hair that can't be brushed or combed since it falls out. If women complain to the company and ask a refund they are refused. The company offers to exchange the wig for a human hair wig worth $125 if the customer pays an additional $18.50. The exchange wig is not much better than the original.

6 Erie Policemen Cleared

ERIE—Six Erie police officers who took polygraph tests Monday afternoon in connection with the missing $1,000 were cleared when negative results of the tests were revealed.

The six cleared were Chief Armand Chimenti, Deputy Chief Charles Bowers, Capt. Chester Miller, Det. Capt. Raymond Lapenz, Lt. Donald Gunther and Patrolman Earl Wagner.

A seventh man, Patrolman Raymond King, did not take the test because he is afflicted with poison ivy and poison oak. He will be examined at a later date.

All seven are men who have access to the department safe. The safe is a large walk-in and the $1,000 turned up missing last month when the owner asked for the money's return. The "grand" was confiscated by police last year as evidence in a burglary case which is no longer current.

At first the loot was thought to be misplaced but now Chief Chimenti has ruled out any possibility the disappearance was accidental. Early Tuesday the chief said, "I would say it is definitely larceny."

Mayor Louis J. Tullio, who requested the tests be taken, said no more polygraphs will likely be given. He noted hundreds of persons would be involved including police personnel, janitors, clerks and reporters.

At Seminar

Register and Recorder William E. Rice and Ralph Brasington, chief inheritance tax appraiser for Warren County, were in Erie Tuesday and Wednesday to attend the seminar conducted by the Department of Revenue.

Attending the sessions were registers of wills, appraisers and management auditors from northwest district counties.

Richard Witmer, director of County Collections, presided and the seminar was addressed by other members of the state department.

NURSING HOME CHANGES HANDS

Beautiful grounds, foliage and fall flowers surround the Barley Nursing Home in North Warren. The home has been purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barley by Dr. and Mrs. Frank H. Butt Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Valone, with Mrs. Butt to serve as directress. (Photo by Mansfield)

Barley Home Sold

The stately Barley Nursing Home at 506 S. State st., North Warren has changed hands.

The home, the former residence of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wetmore, has been purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barley by Dr. and Mrs. Frank H. Butt Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Valone.

Mrs. Butt, a registered nurse, will serve as directress of the nursing home, which has gained the reputation of being one of the finest in the area. Mrs. Butt said there have been no major changes since the time of purchase and it is hoped the new owners can uphold the high quality of nursing care provided by the Barley's in the past 21 years.

Hazel and Harry Barley operated a nursing home on Prospect street in 1946 until 1950 when they moved to the Wetmore site. The couple will continue to make their home in Warren and are building a new house across from the nursing home.

Dr. and Mrs. Butt reside at 203 Pamela dr., Warren, the Valone's at 100 N. Irvine st. Dr. Butt is anesthesiologist at Warren General Hospital.

Attacked by an enemy, many animals flee in a very erratic way, zigzagging, wildly bouncing, or even spinning. Zoologists believe this behavior disorients the predator's attack and aids escape.

Traffic Violator

A West Virginia man was cited for a traffic light violation following a two-vehicle traffic mishap at 8:50 a.m. yesterday at the intersection of Market street and Fifth avenue.

Borough police Sgt. Willard Zerbe said a car driven by Paul J. Swanson, 204 Hill st., Warren, struck a truck operated by Jerry Lee Stoneking, RD 1, Proctor, W. Va., after the latter ran the red light.

Stoneking told police he was trying to watch his lane of traffic as well as route signs and the last time he looked the light was green in his favor. Stoneking was traveling south on Market.

Swanson, traveling west of Fifth, said the green light was in his favor when he proceeded into Market and struck the truck.

Total damage was listed at $500.

Corry Man

Free on Bond

CORRY—Richard Smith, 34, of 61 Snyder Circle is free on bond to await a hearing on five charges, the result of an incident August 28 in Snyder Circle in which he caused thousands of dollars damage, allegedly assaulted two persons and threatened another.

A professional bondsman from Erie furnished $9,000 bond for Smith who had been charged at arraignment before Alderman M.S. Cobb.

Warren State Hospital officials, where Smith had been confined since the night of the incident, reported tests reveal the Corry man is sane and able to stand trial. There were no conditions found which indicate Smith needs mental hospital care, the report showed.

MR. AND MRS. AL B. CHIARAMONTE have just returned from attending Monsignor Luigi G. Ligutti's golden jubilee anniversary of his priesthood in Des Moines, Iowa. The Chiaramontes flew to the Midwest on Friday, returning home Tuesday evening. The Warrenites, friends of long standing, have visited Monsignor Ligutti several times in Rome, Italy. The Monsignor's outdoor Jubilee Mass was celebrated at the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary Church, Granger, Iowa, his former parish; his jubilee dinner and reception took place in nearby Des Moines. According to the Chiaramontes the colorful and moving ceremonies were attended by approximately twenty bishops, and there were more than 1,000 persons present at the Mass. The Monsignor, who is now the Holy See's permanent observer with the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations and a consultant for several of the post-Vatican II commissions, and is internationally recognized as one of the world's leading hunger fighters, will visit Warren sometime in the future, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chiaramonte.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My boyfriend and I are both 17. We got into a jam last May because he kissed me good-bye on the school premises. (It was three o'clock in the afternoon.) The lecture went something like this: "There is a time and place for everything."

A few weeks later we parked along a well-lit road about 10:00 p.m. to talk about our future. A squad car came along and the police asked us what we were doing. We said we were talking about our future. The policeman ordered us to "get moving." Last night we went to a public park and spread a blanket out under a tree so we could talk about life. About 20 little kids who were on a camping trip began to pester us. They circled around yelling, "Lovers, lovers, kiss, kiss, kiss!" After 15 minutes we left.

If there is a time and place for everything, please tell us where is the place for teenagers to have a nice, quiet conversation. —INVADED PRIVACY

DEAR ANN: Do you have a home? A living room, a parlor, or a front porch are all good places to talk about life. And if you are SITTING on a park bench, your chances for privacy are better than if you are lying down. There are also coffee houses, sandwich shops and snack drive-ins. The list is endless. Be my guest.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Most of the steaming hot weather is over but there are still a few scorches ahead. So please print this letter.

Too many people think they are being kind to their dogs when they take them on shopping trips to town. Most stores do not allow dogs, so the poor animals are locked up in unbearably hot automobiles for two and three hours at a time.

The average car can build up heat to 140 degrees in a half-hour. A dog cools off by radiation, without any evaporation. In a hot car there is no place for the dog's heat to go. He could die.

People do not realize they are being cruel to their pets when they keep them cooped up this way. If any of your readers come across pets who are trapped in overheated cars, please call the Humane Society at once. —ONE WHO LOVES DOGS

DEAR ONE: I have seen pets crying and jumping about frantically in parked cars but it never occurred to me that they might be suffocating from the heat. I thought they were merely unhappy at being left alone. Thank you for making me wiser.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I like our future daughter-in-law very much. We have always treated her like one of the family. Donna has had dinner over here dozens of times. We invited her to our vacation cottage last summer and again this spring.

Yesterday a friend said to me, "I hear your son is marrying Donna. I do hope everything works out all right." I asked her what she meant. She answered, "Donna told my daughter she is very much in love, but she can't warm up to her future mother-in-law."

I am so shocked and hurt I don't know what to do. I had planned a pre-nuptial party for Donna but now I don't have the heart to go through with it. In fact, I don't even feel like going to the wedding. Please advise me. —CRUSHED

DEAR C.: I don't know what kind of friends you have, but if this woman is an example, I suggest that you start trading up.

A person who would make such a cutting remark is vicious. She could also be a liar—or guilty of gross exaggeration. One thing is certain, she is no friend. Write off the comment and carry on as if you never heard it.

Opening lead. Queen of ♦. A dummy reversal uncovered a vital trick for South, the declarer at six hearts, and thereby eliminated the necessity to take what would have been a losing finesse.

South has 25 points including high cards and distribution plus two good suits, and once his partner gave a positive response to his demand opening bid of two hearts, he was determined to reach a slam. When he learned that the partnership was missing an ace, he signed off at six hearts.

West opened the queen of diamonds, the deuce was played from dummy, East signaled with the eight and South dropped the ten. West continued with the jack of diamonds and declarer ruffed. There appeared little more to the play than to draw trumps and eventually take the spade finesse.

The finesse offers only a 50-50 chance for success, however, and South uncovered a method that would improve his odds to better than two to one. All he required was a three-two division in trumps. At trick three the nine of hearts was overtaken by North's ten to ruff another diamond with the jack. The queen of hearts was then ruffed by the king and dummy's king of diamonds was trumped with the ace.

A club was led to the jack and North's eight of hearts drew the last trump as South discarded the queen of spades. Declarer's ace of spades and his high clubs took the rest of the tricks. In all, South made three trumps in dummy, three ruffs in his own hand, one spade, and five clubs.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1967.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—You may be late with some of the items on your schedule, but fretting won't help. Nothing ventured, nothing gained can help here: Apply clever shortcuts, trim out nonessentials.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Good Venus influences. A novel twist, a new approach to a non-moving project could spark fresh interest, relieve the monotony of details. Winnings for good efforts.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—The wide open spaces are your dimensions. But don't do as Gemini so often does—begin with brilliance, then lose interest. Decorate, design, enhance with careful thought and planning.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Mild influences. How this day turns out will be largely up to yourself. Use your brains and wits to bring out the effective and eliminate the useless. At ease!

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Only two planets in highly favorable aspect now; yours is one. Make time and assets count realistically. A masterful touch is possible; handle it well.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Don't fall prey to mid-week doldrums. There are tasks and obligations for you to handle. Capitalize on your many fine talents and you will leave a deep impression.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Try these on for size. Where they fit comfortably, wear them: A new presentation of ideas that just missed success earlier, new methods to help eliminate red tape. A personal touch makes more sales.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—This day's success is in YOUR hands. Don't wait for leads; seek hidden advantages. They're there for the taking. So, renely, confidently does it.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Your work will not look so onerous when you know for certain that it's a means to an end. Handle small tasks as efficiently and enthusiastically as the larger ones.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Study others' difficulties objectively and you will see his (or her) frustrations more clearly. Your present role is that of inspiring companion. Some changes evolving; will please later.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—You should be able to handle and interpret matters, problems ably now. If you need more information before acting, consult an expert in the field. New opportunities in the offing.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—You may be faced with opposing suggestions now. So determine with keen penetration with what to agree, where to say "no" (and DO say "NO!"). A good day, generally.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

NUTRITION NEUROTICS

Nutrition neurotics are people who are convinced that superior health is obtained only by eating natural foods. They believe that the diet must contain bone meal, yeast, alfalfa, exotic seeds, or certain vitamins.

Many believe that only organically grown edibles are of value and that food supplements, man-made vitamins, and modern processing not only are harmful but responsible for degenerative diseases. No one food is essential to health but some 60 nutrients are. These are obtained by eating a variety of foods obtained at the local supermarket.

In contrast, the food faddist falls prey to the latest dietary craze even the other "fads" have failed. Promoters make millions by pushing exotic edibles with wild promises of glowing health. It is easy to sell half-truths because the science of nutrition does not claim to know all the answers.

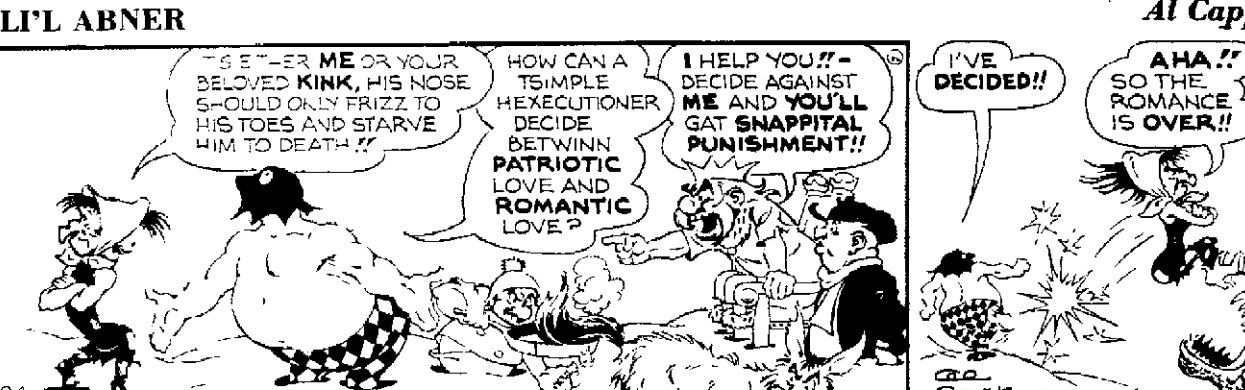

Many food faddists create or contribute to their dietary deficiencies when they abandon their normal diet and turn to so-called health foods. Health organizations, our government, and the food industry do their best to distinguish fact from fancy.

How many reducing diets can you remember? The high-fat diet was touted as curbing the appetite. The high-protein regimen was aimed at the weakness ensuing from too little food. One ill-conceived weight reduction plan attached the name of Mayo. The air force diet was low

Nonfarm Jobs in State Increase 11.2 Per Cent

Nonfarm jobs in Pennsylvania increased by 11.2 per cent over the 1958-66 period—less than half the national increase of 24.3 per cent. Within the State, the Lancaster area showed the largest rate of growth in employment with a 24.3 per cent increase for the eight year period. Between 1961 and 1966, job growth in the Lancaster and York areas was close to the national average of 18.2 per cent. Erie was the only area that exceeded the national average with an increase in employment of 20.4 per cent.

These are some of the data on Pennsylvania employment to be found in the new 876-page publication, Employment and Earnings Statistics for States and Areas, 1939-66, issued by the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics, according to Herbert Binstock, regional director of the bureau. Binstock noted that the new publication is the fifth in an annual series. The comprehensive historical reference volume contains data on employment and earnings trends by industry for all 50 states, the District of Columbia and 202 metropolitan areas. Binstock pointed out that the volume is a valuable tool for community and plant location planners, wage negotiators, and market researchers.

Pennsylvania nonfarm payroll employment rose from 3,636,200 in 1961 to 4,069,300 in 1966—an increase of 434,100 jobs over the five-year period. Job gains were primarily in government, up 86,500; services, up 71,000; and wholesale and retail trade, up 65,000. Mining showed a net decrease of over 9,000 employees for the period, bringing the decline in employment within this industry division to over 34,000 between 1958 and 1966. In the last five years, manufacturing employment in the State has increased by nearly 175,000, more than offsetting a decline of 20,000 jobs in 1958-61.

Between 1965 and 1966, nine of the 12 areas in Pennsylvania showed job increases topping the national gain of 3.4 per cent in nonfarm employment. Areas with the largest gains were Erie with 5.4 per cent, York with 5.3 per cent, and Lancaster with 5.0 per cent.

In this new BLS research tool, data for Pennsylvania indicate a 21.1 per cent increase in average weekly earnings of factory production workers between 1961 and 1966, from $91.65 to $110.98. This increase can be attributed largely to a rise in average hourly earnings from $2.35 to $2.72. In 1966, Pittsburgh led the State with weekly earnings of $131.70. Weekly hours in Pennsylvania rose steadily since 1960, reaching the all-time high of 40.8 hours in 1966.

Employment and Earnings Statistics for States and Areas, 1939-66, is available for $5.00 from the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Middle Atlantic Regional Office, 341 Ninth Avenue, Room 1009, New York, N.Y. 10001.

Sanford and Grand Valley Area News

By LILY GARBER

The Sanford Ladies' Aid will hold its annual picnic Wednesday, Sept. 27, at the home of Mrs. Faye Scott. The Grand Valley Ladies Aid has been invited to attend. Meat and coffee will be furnished, ladies to bring twelve and own table service. The men are also invited. Dinner will be served at noon. Plans for Union Aid to be held in October will be made.

About 60 gathered at the El-dred Grange Hall Saturday night to honor five of the 50 year members. All were present but Mr. Milty Ongley. Lena and Ellsworth Reynolds gave the presentation of the certificates, after which a lunch of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Dan-felson and family visited Mr. and Mrs. John Moravsek at the home of Mrs. Lois Moravsek at Corry, Sunday evening. John had just returned from spending some time in Alaska and he and Mrs. Moravsek were leaving Tuesday morning for the University of Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Obrok and children of Warren, Ohio spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Obrok.

Mrs. Alice Kelley Ryckman and Mrs. Ethel Garber attended the 50th wedding anniversary at Tidoute on Sunday.

The missionary meetings opened Sunday night in the Grand Valley Church and will continue each night until this Sunday. There will be a different speaker each night and some will show films of their work.

Monday night Rev. and Mrs. William Anders showed pictures of their work with the Aucas. It will be remembered that in 1956 when five missionary men endeavored to make friendly contact but all were martyred by Indian spears as soon as their plane had landed. Rev. and Mrs. Anders have been translating the Wycliffe Bible into their language and the Aucas now have the Book of Mark in their own language.

The widow's of some of the men that were martyred have gone back to the Aucas to help civil-ize them and teach them the Bible. Rev. and Mrs. Anders lived in a very primitive camp for several weeks to help these people to learn about Christ.

There will be a Newton Cemetery meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gates Sept. 26 at 8 p.m. All are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Allen of Youngsville were callers of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Allen Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Stover of Garland and four children of James Scott were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ilo Scott. Mr. Leon Mitchell of Wrightsville called on Carl Garber Monday. Mr. Mitchell had just returned Sunday from Florida.

To the Bride and Groom

For centuries, these words have saluted happy couples on their wedding day, as guests stand, glasses held high, to drink a "toast" to them.

We think it's a wonderful custom, and we're happy to help perpetuate it by presenting to every future bride who registers her silver, crystal and china patterns with us. This handblown Fostoria wedding cup, which as you see, has been inscribed so it becomes your own Personal Possession. We hope that it brings you many years of good fortune, and may we add our congratulations...

Line Story of 1968 Pontiacs

A new styling theme dominated by a bold front end design, engineering advancements which include another first in the industry and unexcelled safety are the characteristics of Pontiac Motor Division's 1968 models.

All Catalina, Executive, Bonneville and Grand Prix models carry a distinctive Pontiac oriented styling theme highlighted by a new wide peripheral front bumper with a strong and handsome center section. Built-in safety features of every 1968 Pontiac include new side marker lamps, additional interior padding and crushable armrests.

"The safety, comfort and convenience of driving a new Pontiac are at their highest level," John Z. DeLorean, a General Motors vice president and Pontiac's general manager said. The 1968 Pontiacs go on sale today.

MODEL LINE-UP
A total of 17 models in four series is available in 1968. The volume-selling Catalina series offers a two-door sedan, four-door sedan, hardtop coupe, four-door hardtop, convertible, two-seat station wagon and three-seat station wagon.

Executive models include a four-door sedan, four-door hardtop, hardtop coupe, two-seat station wagon and three-seat station wagon.

Bonneville luxury is available in a hardtop coupe, four-door hardtop, convertible and three-seat station wagon.

A new hardtop coupe represents the Grand Prix series. The popular Ventura custom trim option is offered on most Catalina models and the luxurious Brougham option is now available on Bonneville four-door hardtop coupes and convertibles.

EXTERIOR STYLING
From every angle the 1968 Pontiacs reveal the look which has established Pontiac's styling trends as the ones to follow.

The new peripheral bumper integrates all front end components into one uncluttered design unit. Dual headlamps are placed horizontally within the bumper and appear wider apart with the new recessed horizontal ribbed design of the grille.

A familiar vertical Pontiac vee crest mounts on the bold center section of the bumper.

The Grand Prix front end features twin horizontally mounted headlamps that become visible when the lights are turned on.

All parking lamps are below the bumper and are teamed with side marker lamps in one housing to share a common lens that wraps around for side visibility. The parking lamps will be on when the headlamps are on.

Body sides emphasize the full length side peak line and are accented with an exclusive narrow molding which has a vinyl plastic insert on all models except the Grand Prix and Executive station wagon.

The vinyl molding insert guards against parking lot scratches and dents. It is offered in five different body colors to serve as a distinctive trim feature.

Rocker panel moldings enhance the side appearance of all Executive, Bonneville and Grand Prix models and they are offered with the decor option on all Catalinas.

The new look from the rear includes wide tail lamps which turn downward at the outboard ends to integrate body and bumpers on all models except the Grand Prix and station wagons. On the Grand Prix the lamps are in the rear bumper to provide wrap-around lighting to the sides. Station wagon lights are mounted in the rear quarter.

INTERIORS AND ACCESSORIES

All 1968 interiors are fully color-keyed to eliminate bright metal moldings and to minimize glare and annoyance.

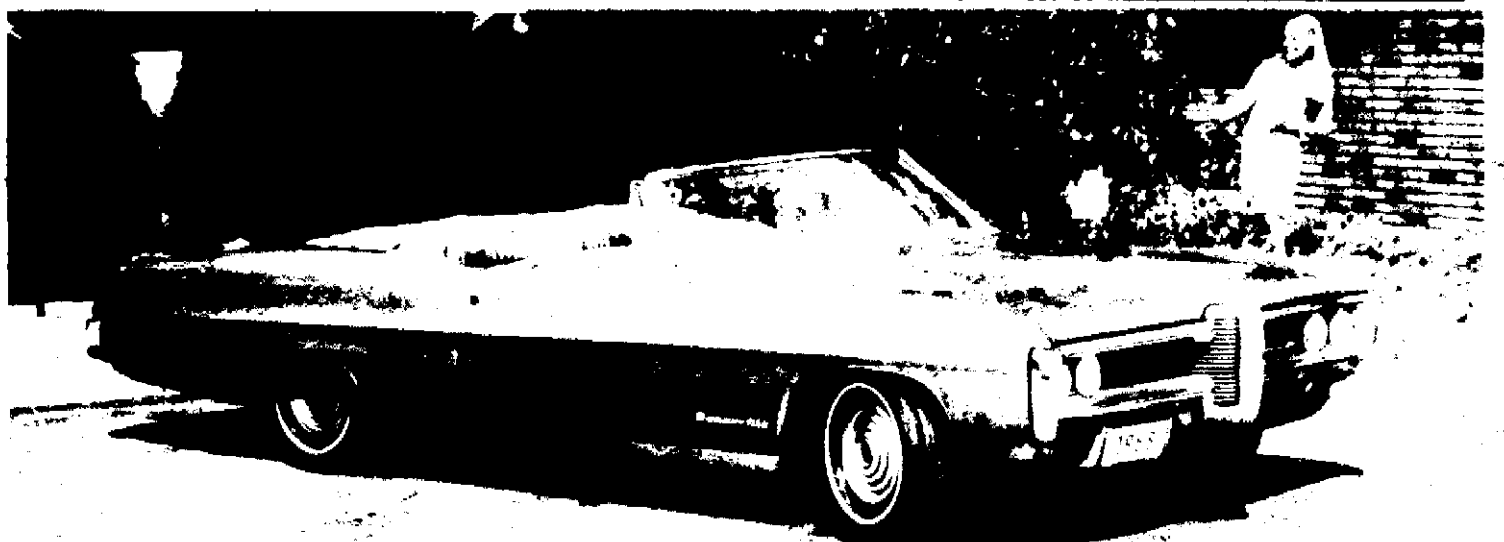

The choice of colors for the Cordova or convertible tops have been increased to four and 13 of the 15 exterior colors are new for 1968.

Bi-level, tri-comfort air conditioning, AM-FM radio, stereo tape player and Pontiac's cruise control system are just a few in the long list of accessories and options which assure the maximum in driving pleasures.

SAFETY DEVICES
The instrument panel has additional thick foam padding that blends into the windshield pillars. This padding forms a large area of protection for front seat occupants. Full width padding has also been added to the center of the panel.

Other important standard interior safety features include a recessed ignition key and a newly designed cigarette lighter which will break away at 90 pound load. Also standard are crushable arm rests, additional padding on the front seat backs, an energy-absorbing steering column and dual master cylinder brake system.

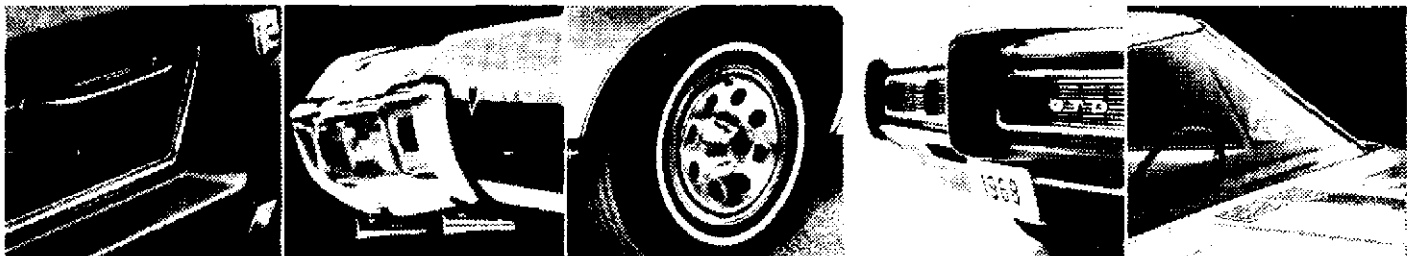

BONNEVILLE

Pontiac Motor Division's luxury Bonneville line is represented here by the 1968 convertible model. Elegant styling, precision engineering and new safety features make the 1968

Bonnevilles a new experience in driving comfort and convenience. Other Bonneville models include a hardtop coupe, four-door hardtop, and three seat station wagon.

Massachusetts Doctor Runs Toward Health

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON Associated Press Writer BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Warren R. Guild of the Harvard Medical School was all tensed up from a tiring plane ride to San Jose, Costa Rica.

"So I put on my track suit for a late afternoon run in the country," he said. Pretty soon it was dark, he didn't know where he was, a horde of youngsters on bicycles were following him and he didn't know any Spanish. "People saw this man running around in his underwear," he said, "and they didn't know what was going on."

The 41-year-old Lexington, Mass., doctor finally got across to them he wanted to get back to the city's Grand Hotel and they directed him to the right road. Then there was the time the heart and kidney specialist visited San Francisco for a lecture.

"Whenever I go there," he said, "I stay in a downtown hotel so I can run in Golden Gate Park. I wear my track clothes under a suit. When I get to the park, I hide my street clothes in a bush while I go running."

"One time I forgot where the bush was. Took me an hour and a half to find it."

Dr. Guild has been running for his health's sake since he was 29 — from four to 12 miles a day — "because I was always spending too many hours trying to line up players for a game of squash."

He thinks more people would run if they weren't so embarrassed about being stared at as they lope along in sweat suits. "I know how they feel," he says. "People see a middle-aged man jogging in public and they think he's slipped his lid."

Sometimes the police take a dim view of the runner. "I was all wound up after

IT'S FUN TO RUN

Dr. Warren R. Guild, right, and friends, Fred Cardini, left, and Milton Kay, all of Lexington, Mass., lope along in front of a statue of Revolutionary War hero Capt. Parker, Dr. Guild, 41, has been running for his health's sake since he was 29 — from four to 12 miles a day.

the doctor has some tips on avoiding embarrassment.

—Run before breakfast after your heart has had a night's rest and only the police and the milkman will see you.

—Do your running in a neighboring town where no one will recognize you.

—Wear baggy clothes. No one can tell if you're fat or skinny.

—Make it socially acceptable by inviting others to join you. The more the merrier.

"I can't prove a person will live longer because he runs, which I think he does," said the doctor, "but I can prove that he will get more out of the years that he has left to him."

"You just compress more living into every 24 hours."

making an emergency visit to the hospital. I couldn't relax, so at 1 a. m. I decided to run for about 10 miles to Waltham and back for relaxation."

Just before he reached home, the police stopped and asked him what he was doing.

"I was a little indignant and told them I was eating a cheese sandwich," he said. The police took him to the station.

"My wife had to identify me. Now, of course, the police and I just wave to each other."

Dr. Guild has written a book, "How to Keep Fit and Enjoy It," citing several cases of heart patients who have returned to a normal life through his physical fitness program.

It includes running for about 30 minutes a day. But Dr. Guild says any other suitable exercise can be used if the patient prefers another sport. For those who choose to run,

Contact Lenses For Rats

AUCKLAND (AP) — New Zealand rats with high blood pressure have been fitted with contact lenses — something an American expert said could not be done.

The rats, a special strain, pass on high blood pressure to their offspring. This unbuild weakness is put to use by research workers at the Department of Ophthalmology at the Otago Medical School, Dunedin, who are studying eye damage and blindness caused by high blood pressure in humans.

Part of the work involves taking highly magnified photographs of the rats' eyes, especially the retinas. This is best done after the animals have been fitted with contact lenses, which provide a flatter surface curve.

The work took an early setback when the research men asked a United States contact lens manufacturer to make them a rat-size version of his product. "Technically impossible," was the reply.

The researchers then took their problem to an Auckland, New Zealand, lens maker. Working in the evenings and during the weekends, he and his staff at last produced sets of the miniature lenses.

Now, with the help of these and the rats, the research work is continuing.

Moss' Buffalo Springfield Isn't a Modern Singing Group

By JIM FELLOWS
Frederick News-Post Writer
Written for The Associated Press

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — James H. Moss was steaming the other day. He wasn't angry, just out for a spin on his 1920 Buffalo Springfield steam roller.

"I'm not sure how far we went," he said afterward, "just up and down the road a couple of times 'til she ran out of fuel and water."

No economy vehicle, the three-ton green monster gobbles up half a pickup truck full of wood and 300 gallons of water at one time, and gets about 10 miles to the meal.

Jim Moss collects antique heavy machinery. In addition to the steam roller, he owns four gasoline or kerosene burning tractors, the newest 40 years old.

"I've been crazy about these things ever since I was a small boy," said Moss.

Leaning against one of the five-foot-high driving wheels on a 1920 Old Pull tractor, he pointed toward the Frederick Shopping Center, which sits where a large farm used to be.

"I still remember when they were running that thrasher over there," Moss said.

"You could have heard that tractor anywhere in the valley. I knew when I heard that thing banging away I would have to have one someday."

Moss, who operates heavy construction equipment for a living, bought his first tractor, a Rumely Oil Pull, in 1961.

"I had my regrets at first," he said. "I got that thing in the yard and said 'What in the world have I bought now?'"

The tractor had been sitting idle since 1944. Parts not damaged by vandals were rusted and jammed, Moss said.

"Worse yet, when I fired the thing up it shot fire as high as the trees and, for a few seconds, it was raining nuts and bolts around here."

At first the tractor didn't run very well but after Moss took a dead mouse out of the carburetor it settled down to "a low roar" which a friend of his heard two miles away.

To start one of the tractors, you pull on a huge lever connected to a flywheel four feet high.

Slow to admit that his muscular build comes in handy with the tractors, the construction man conceded that "not too many men can even turn the thing over."

Several of the tractors have horizontal engines and look more like old train locomotives than farm machinery.

Slapping the cylinders of one 60-horsepower engine, Moss said: "How's this for a compact engine? Only 13,000 cubic inches of displacement."

A modern automobile engine generating about 200 horsepower displaces about 250 cubic inches.

Moss said he can always find something to do on any machine in his collection. "Mostly I just rebuild them and clean 'em up."

Although he runs the tractors for the fun of it, he has rolled driveways for friends with the steam roller and sometimes uses its boiler to steam-clean his construction equipment.

Moss, 27, relies on older men for information on the old tractors.

He said he never would have been able to fix them up without the help of H. Clyde Davis, long-time Frederick resident, Davis used to be the Rumley dealer in Frederick and had a shop in the east end of town.

Asked the value of his collection, Moss just shook his head.

"I've been offered all kinds of prices for the tractors and the roller, but they are not for sale under any circumstances," he said.

New 1968 Cadillacs Go on Sale Today

Major engineering advancements combined with distinctive Cadillac styling result in new standards of performance, durability, safety and comfort in the 1968 Cadillac.

Calvin J. Werner, general manager of Cadillac Motor Car Division and vice president of General Motors, in announcing the 1968 models, said they would go on sale in dealer showrooms today.

"Heart of the performance-durability story for the 1968 models is Cadillac's completely new engine. We have capitalized on our 53 years of V-8 engine design and manufacturing experience to produce an engine to satisfy the needs of our Cadillac owners," Mr. Werner pointed out. "The new engine has a displacement of 472 cubic inches and torque of 525 foot pounds—both the highest of any standard production passenger car engine in the world."

Rated at 375 horsepower, the new 1968 engine is standard in all 11 models.

While wheelbase, height and width remain unchanged, except the Eldorado are seven tenths of an inch longer. The Eldorado remains at 221 inches in length.

STYLING — STANDARD MODELS

Cadillac's 1968 styling adds new distinctiveness to all 11 models. The front end features a new grille with a new header bar and thinner and narrower grille fins. These provide a more finely-tailored appearance.

although retaining the traditional cross-hatch design. Larger parking lamps are fitted into the ends of the grille and operate whenever headlights are on. Complementing the front end is a new hood—6½ inches longer—which sweeps in an unbroken line to the windshield and conceals the new windshield wiper system.

The side view is accented by a strong design line which starts at the top of the front fender and extends downward to the rear of the car.

Rear styling features a new fully chromed bumper and a new deck lid, similar to the Eldorado which provides added luggage space.

STYLING — ELDORADO

Dramatic front end styling changes to Cadillac's 1968 Fleetwood Eldorado include new parking lamps located in the leading edges of the front fenders. The hood is 4½ inches longer to provide cover for the new windshield wiper system.

New and larger taillights, accented by finely-tailored chrome trim, provide greater light output from side and rear.

SAFETY — RELATED FEATURES

For 1968 Cadillac offers even greater emphasis on product improvements related to safety. In the interior, door handles are recessed into the side of the arm rests to prevent inadvertent opening of doors and to provide clean and uncluttered arm rests. All models will have stronger door hinges.

Sun visors, already padded, now have edge-crush provisions. Instrument panels have additional padding and interior bright finishes have controlled reflectivity. The center automatic climate control outlet is now deeply recessed and made of impact absorbing plastic with breakaway retainers.

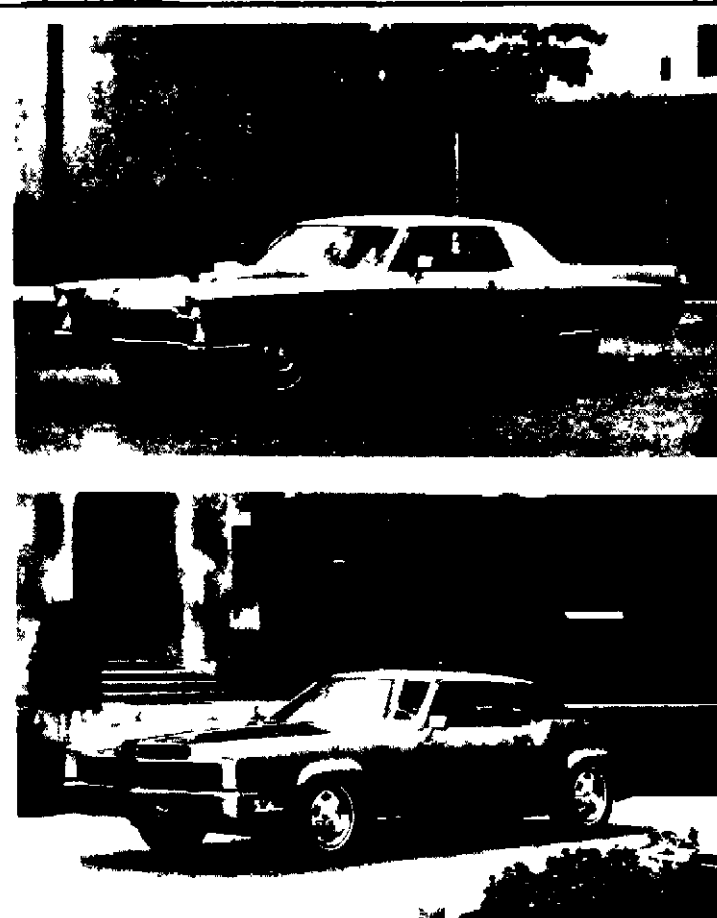

The inside rear view mirror will bend away from either a forward or side impact. And for increased protection for rear seat passengers, all front seat backs will have additional padding.

Ventilator window crank handles are flatter with rounded edges and will bend away upon side impact. Door locking buttons are made of flexible material.

In the Eldorado the rear remote door handle for rear seat passengers will be on the right side only to encourage exiting on the safe side.

On the outside, a new windshield wiper and washer system cleans a larger portion of the windshield, particularly at the base of the windshield pillars. The improved higher capacity washer starts to deliver water to the glass before the first cycle of the wipers.

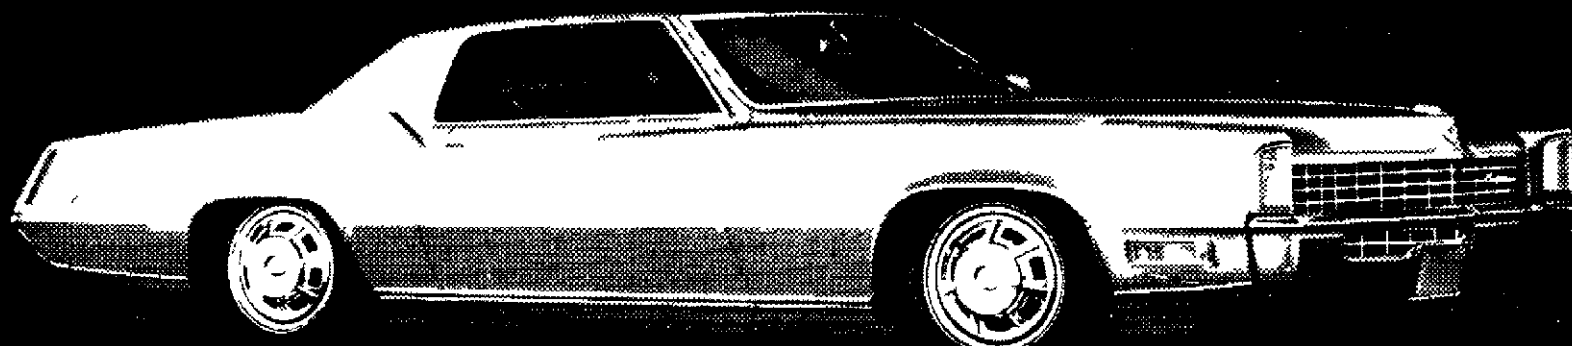

New side marker lights have been added for 1968. The front marker lights are located in the new cornering light and show amber when the lights are on. The rear side markers on all models other than the Eldorado are located in the outer ends of the rear bumpers.

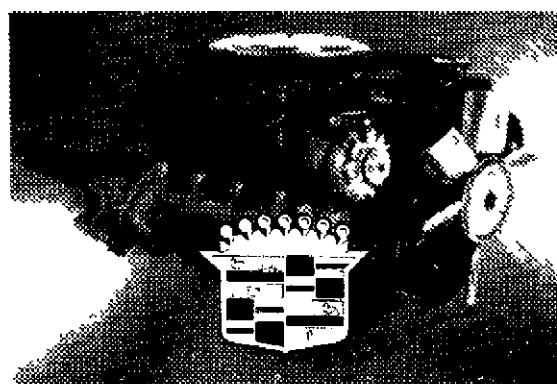

1968 CADILLACS

Exterior changes in the 1968 Cadillac, as shown on this Coupe de Ville (top), include a new grille and larger parking lights redesigned cornering lights and new marker lights on the side plus a new deck lid and all chrome rear bumper. Among the safety related product improvements in all models are: a new concealed windshield wiper and washer system, recessed door handles and added cushioning in the instrument panel and front seat backs. Dramatic styling changes to Cadillac's 1968 Fleetwood Eldorado (bottom) include new parking lamps located in the leading edge of the front fenders, a new hood 4½ inches longer and redesigned taillights. All 1968 Cadillac models are powered by a new 375 h.p.—472 cubic inch engine which produces 525 foot pounds of torque—the highest of any production passenger car engine in the world.

Cadillac presents elegance in action!

And the "inside story" for 1968 starts with the biggest, smoothest V-8 engine ever put into a production motor car.

Brilliant new styling • Dramatic new interiors • Totally new instrument panel • Concealed windshield wipers • Improved variable ratio power steering • New disc brakes available • Wide choice of eleven exciting new body styles

Now enter a new era of luxury car performance. Cadillac's new 472 V-8 has the greatest torque or usable power of any passenger car engine and the newest combination of engine components since Cadillac pioneered the V-8 fifty three years ago. You will notice a brilliant improvement in passing performance that in no way compromises the reserve of strength for Cadillac's usual power conveniences. You will also be impressed with its amazing quiet—so remarkable that only its responsiveness reminds you that a great new engine lies under the hood.

Cadillac for 1968 provides in addition its well-proved triple braking system with tuned drums to deliver smooth, straight-stopping power. Front disc brakes are available for those who prefer the further refinement of an advanced disc and drum combination—and this year they're standard on Eldorado. You may also choose a greatly improved air conditioning system that moves more air more quickly.

Whether your preference is for one of the more traditional models—or the classic beauty of the Eldorado—come in soon and discover new elegance and excitement in luxury motoring!

1968 Chevrolet Truck Line

Designed to meet current trends, the 1968 Chevrolet truck line features continued functional styling, more powerful V8 engines, more attractive cab interiors, a redesigned city delivery series, a wider variety of optional equipment, and a long list of other improvements.

The clean angular styling is continued on light-duty conventional cab models, with new paint treatment to give a more massive effect to the front end. Rear visibility is improved with a standard rear window nearly twice as large as in previous models and one of the largest in the industry. The forward line-of-sight visibility to the road directly ahead of the front wheels also is among the best in the field.

New standard equipment features of the 1968 truck line include extension of backup lights to all light- and medium-duty cab models, nylon cord tires on all but 1/2-ton models and Chevy-Vans and Sportvans; side marker lamps or reflectors, clearance and identification lights on all conventional models over 80 inches wide, and exhaust emission control systems on gasoline engines used in 1/2-ton and dual-purpose models.

Included among interesting new options are a dual-master cylinder self-adjusting brake system for the medium-duty line; a full line of wide-base nylon cord tires for light-duty models, rear leaf springs for 1/2- and 3/4-ton light-duty conventional models, and a wider choice of engines, transmissions, and axles.

Conventional cab models feature many significant improvements for 1968. They include as standard equipment such items as rounded edge window cranks, dual padded sunshades, yielding shank window control handles, deflecting door lock remote handles, pushbutton seat belt buckles, larger low profile control knobs, and recessed ignition switch and cigar lighter. Anti-skid strips are used on door sill plates of panels and Carryalls.

Interiors are brighter and more attractive, with high gloss paint, satin finished chrome horn button, two-tone door paint

CHEVY PICKUP TRUCK

Brighter, more attractive interiors and a wide selection of V-8 power are offered in the 1968 pickup truck line. New paint treatment gives a more massive front-end appearance while retaining unsurpassed forward line-of-sight vision to the road. The rear window is nearly twice the area of the previous standard backlight. Three V-8s ranging from 200 to 310 hp. are offered, including a new 307 cu. in. engine and a 396 cu. in. power plant available for the first time in regular pickups.

treatment, new seat trims with welted seams, and many other improvements. Seating comfort and leg room both are improved through modifications to the seat.

More power is offered in light-duty conventional models with two V-8s not previously available. One is a new 307 cu. in. engine developing 200 hp., and the other is a new 310 hp. version of the 396 cu. in. V-8. The 307 replaces the former 283 cu. in. engine as the standard V-8 in light-duty models.

The improvement in cab interiors and comfort, larger V-8 engines, improved transmissions and other chassis advances in the light-duty line are of special importance in the expanding truck camper market. The dual-purpose Suburban with capacity for eight persons and excellent for trailer towing because of its durable chassis, has the same interior and chassis improvements as the light truck line.

More interior colors are offered and a bucket seat option with center console and front compartment carpeting is new for 1968.

In the medium-duty line, the 366 cu. in. V-8 is increased to 235 hp. A new 427 cu. in. V-8 with 260 hp., the highest powered gasoline engine ever offered in Chevrolet trucks, is available as an option in the light-heavy series.

All engines used in 1/2-ton trucks and in light-duty dual-purpose vehicles will be equipped with exhaust emission control systems of either the air injection reactor or controlled combustion type. Closed positive crankcase ventilation will be standard equipment across the line on gasoline engines.

Despite the increased power available, all Chevrolet truck gasoline engines still operate on regular grade fuel.

Of special interest to city-delivery operators is the new 3/4- and 1-ton forward control Step-Van line. Completely redesigned with a new chassis and front body extension it brings to the Step-Van line for the first time such features as independent front suspension with coil springs, power steering, and V-8 engines.

The extended front design permits placing the engine farther forward and provides a full-width hood for easy access to the engine for routine daily maintenance from outside the vehicle, so that the cargo compartment can remain locked for security during servicing.

Transmission availability and design also have been improved for the 1968 line. A new four-speed manual is quieter, more durable, and easier to shift. It is standard in most 1-ton through 2-ton models and optional in 1/2- and 3/4-ton conventional and Step-Van models.

The three-speed Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission option now has been extended to 1-ton models, and a new four-speed fully synchronized manual with steering column controls is available for the first time for the Chevy-Van and Sportvan.

The "surface" of the Sun is known technically as the photosphere. Since the whole Sun is a ball of hot gas, there is really no such thing as a surface.

'68s Top Secrets are here

1968 Chevrolets

The 1968 Chevrolets are the very essence of modern design. Every line, every curve is in close harmony. It's a smooth, uncluttered look with roof lines compatible with body lines, grilles and bumpers that blend gracefully into long, rounded fenders. Clean, flowing, beautiful in their simplicity, these '68 Chevrolets are rich and advanced in styling beyond any you've ever seen.

A MORE SILENT RIDE

And for 1968, we've gone to every length to give you more peace and quiet inside. The most sophisticated computers have been used to strategically place body mounts and successfully isolate noise and vibration. Shock absorbers have been improved. The wheel stance on many models is wider for greater smoothness. Exhaust systems have been redesigned to make them whisper-quiet. Even the clocks tick more softly. A sound car is a silent car. The '68 Chevrolets are the most silent, highest quality cars we've ever built.

BETTER PERFORMANCE

There are new engines, a bigger standard Six and V8.

UNIQUE ASTRO VENTILATION

There's a whole new idea in ventilation, called Astro Ventilation, for Camaro, Corvette and the elegant Caprice Coupe. It's also available on many other models. By opening two new vent-ports on the instrument panel, you bring in outside air that can be directed where you want it. This way, you can leave your windows rolled up and add still more to your peace and quiet.

PROVED SAFETY FEATURES

You get the proved GM-developed energy absorbing steering column, folding front seat back latches, dual

There's a new 250-hp V8 you can order that runs on regular fuel. Many new engine components increase dependability and keep your new Chevrolet running stronger. There's a new rear axle ratio you can add for greater economy. On most engines equipped with automatic transmissions, there's a special heater for the carburetor which gives you more efficient performance in cold weather. And with every engine, you get the new GM exhaust emission control.

master cylinder brake system with warning light, plus many more new features. Among them energy absorbing front seat backs, and safety armrests that shield the door handles.

MUCH MORE THAT'S NEW

There are new roof lines, some formal and graceful, others sporty and quick. There are new instrument panels, richly designed and all controls within easy reach. There are new interiors, new vinyls, new fabrics, new colors. There are models with Hide-A-Way windshield wipers and headlights that disappear behind grilles. There are new side marker lamps, new recessed taillights. There's even a new ignition alarm buzzer that reminds you not to walk away and leave your keys in the car.

These are the newest, the most different, the most dramatically changed Chevrolets ever. And they're at your Chevrolet dealer's now. You'll thoroughly enjoy slipping behind the wheel, experiencing the smooth new handling and library-quiet ride and, more than anything, seeing and feeling the even greater quality built into every new Chevrolet for 1968.

Be smart! Be sure! Buy now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

There's more quality and value built into Chevrolets than ever before, making every new 1968 model an even better buy!

Apply for Nomination To AF Academy Now

High school seniors who are interested in entering the Air Force Academy after graduation should take steps immediately to apply for a nomination.
Maj. Robert M. Kunselman, the Academy liaison officer in the Warren area, advises seniors to contact him for information at Box 337 in Tionesta.
His Air Force Reserve assignment is to counsel young men concerning the Academy admission requirements and entrance examinations.

Members of Congress, who nominate a majority of the applicants for each Academy class, have already begun to screen and select their nominees for the class entering in June 1968. Since nominating quotas are limited, the student should not delay his application.
Senators and Representatives are interested in nominating successful high school students to be considered for Academy appointments. A good scholastic standing, a record of participating in extracurricular activities, and physical fitness are the most important factors.
As an Academy liaison officer, Maj. Kunselman is prepared to furnish complete information on the Academy's admission requirements and its program of education which prepares young men for careers in the United States Air Force.
The independent inventor still plays a major role in technology. His contributions in the 20th century include xerography (Chester Carlson), shrink-proof knitted wear (Richard Walton), self-winding wristwatch (John Harwood), polaroid camera (Edwin Land), and the ball-point pen (Ladislav and Georg Biro).

Test the Backing
AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Latex foam backing on carpeting should crumble like a cookie.
The Rubber Manufacturers Assn., Tufted Textile Manufacturers Assn., and American Carpet Institute are working to establish specifications for foam on broadloom carpeting.
In the meantime, the Good-year Chemical Division here says, there are four steps you can take to determine the quality of latex foam backing on a rug or carpet you're thinking of buying:
1. Look at it. Backing should be at least three-sixteenths of an inch thick. A fourth of an inch is better. And the tiny foam cells should be fairly uniform in size.
2. Feel it. Good foam backing will keep the carpet fairly rigid. It won't hang limp.
3. Bend it. Good foam backing won't crack.
4. Rub it. If an excessive amount of filler material has been added to cut costs, the foam will rub off like an eraser. Approximately 10 per cent of quality broadloom carpeting has latex foam backing.
